Acquisition of «RONA - tomorrow's classics»

Dear customer

We are delighted to inform you that at the beginning of May 2019, we took over the «RONA - tomorrow's classics» embroidery collection. Over the past few years, this embroidery collection has become a strong brand. Taking over this brand ensures continuity.

As you know, this year acundis ltd is celebrating its tenth birthday. acundis ltd has developed into a global embroidery company with its own production sites in Italy and China. Leading lingerie and fashion manufacturers are being provided with acundis' own collections (references at www.acundis.com). Customers not only appreciate the fast and competent support service, but also the unique combination of sophisticated fashion and lingerie collections. We always guarantee high quality standards, no matter if we produce in Europe or in Asia.

With our two embroidery collections acundis and «RONA - tomorrow's classics», we can now offer you an even wider range of embroidery designs.
